Read the passage and answer the questions.

Natasha's Big Day

Natasha had been practising her recorder piece for the school's National Day concert for three months. Her CCA teacher, Mr Lim, had chosen her to play a short solo before the whole school choir began.

On the morning of the concert, Natasha's hands felt cold and shaky backstage. She peeked through the curtain and saw hundreds of pupils and parents already seated in the hall.

Just before her turn, her recorder slipped from her sweaty palms and rolled under a chair. Her friend, Haikal, quickly crawled under the chair and passed it back to her with a reassuring smile.

When Natasha finally stepped onto the stage, she took a deep breath and played the piece from memory, without a single mistake. The audience clapped warmly as she bowed and hurried off stage.

Afterwards, Mr Lim told her how proud he was, and Natasha realised that practising often was what had given her the confidence to recover from the little mishap.

The Picnic Surprise

Ryan's family planned a picnic at East Coast Park on Saturday afternoon. His mother packed sandwiches, fruit and a large flask of barley water into a picnic basket.

When they arrived, Ryan's younger sister, Mei Xin, realised she had left her favourite stuffed rabbit at home. She started to sob loudly, and nothing seemed to comfort her.

Ryan remembered that their neighbour, Mrs Choo, had a spare key to their flat. He called his father's phone and asked him to ring Mrs Choo for help.

Mrs Choo kindly found the stuffed rabbit on Mei Xin's bed and passed it to a family friend who was driving to the park anyway. Within an hour, the rabbit arrived safely.

Mei Xin hugged her rabbit tightly and finally smiled. The family spread out their picnic mat, and everyone enjoyed the rest of the afternoon by the sea, grateful that a small problem had been solved so quickly.
